For example, here's a message that I received earlier today from someone who unsubscribed from my member site: "It is a wonderful resource, Simon. As I'm sure you know, we normally place the adjective in front of the noun in English e.g. "the red car" instead of "the car red". Ideas for the main paragraphs Online shopping is faster, cheaper and more convenient. Here's a summary of the questions in that discussion: 1) Why did I write any product imaginable instead of any imaginable product?2) Would any imaginable product also be correct?3) Is there a difference in meaning between the two phrases? Thanks! On the 3rd of March 2020, I stopped posting daily lessons on this blog and I began working on a new website. This can strengthen political relationships. While "any imaginable product" is also grammatically correct, it seems just a little less natural to me. Always prepare for the next question rather than worrying about a previous question. I found it difficult to understand native speakers, and I couldn't speak naturally; I had to construct sentences in my head before I spoke, and I was constantly worried about making mistakes. Share a copyright friendly link, video or MP3. They need to be interesting and engaging. Janov criticises the talking therapies as they deal primarily with the cerebral cortex and higher-reasoning areas and do not access the source of emotional pain within the more basic parts of the central nervous system. In other words, what do you need to do to improve your score? I'm going to try to set up a torrent for the file. However, it is still possible to get a very high score even if you don't address all of the points e.g. if you speak well about the topic but miss the last point or two. Read the following text and try the quick exercise below it. Do you feel like this when you speak or write in English? I wouldn't talk about anything related to work or studies here. According to Janov, repressed pain can be sequentially brought to conscious awareness for resolution through re-experiencing specific incidents and fully expressing the resulting pain during therapy, and..." If you're reading articles in English, look out for real examples of the types of description that you might use for an IELTS task. Is it a positive or negative development? It has quintupled in size since 2004, overtaking both borrowing on credit cards and car finance. Let's look at some examples of paraphrasing, using the text below. It is easy to show statistically how tourism affects individual economies. Free email list: As well as the member website, I also have a free email list for non-members. Full paragraph: In my opinion, high street shops are disappearing due to competition from online shopping websites, which are cheaper and more convenient. However, it has since declined in popularity, partly because Janov did not produce enough evidence to convince research-oriented psychotherapists of its effectiveness. Let's look at a new speaking topic: Describe a day out that you enjoyed recently. I'll try to answer without going deep into grammar, but if you really like the grammar side of things, have a look at this page (especially the part about 'the only decision possible' and 'the worst choice imaginable'). This from 341,000 in 2007. You should say - where you went- whom you went with- what you did that day- and why you enjoyed the day out. You'll receive an email from me approximately once a week. There was a twofold increase in x. Proposals for books, screencaps, blogs and other forms of publishing are often delivered via an elevator pitch, which may be presented in oral, written or video formats. Many high street shops have gone out of business in recent years. Primal therapy patients must talk calmly to the therapist. Personal example: recent purchases on Amazon. If you find any of the gaps difficult, miss them and come back to them after doing the easier ones. Moreover, in all nations this problem has made it difficult for the industry to develop any type of reliable or credible tourism information base in order to estimate the contribution it makes to regional, national and global economies. Remember: small, gradual improvements are signposts on the path to success! All students learn to link ideas using words like "however", "furthermore" etc. What is an 'elevator pitch'? I think a speaker's body language is also really important. Primal therapy became very influential during a brief period in the early 1970s, after the publication of Janov's first book, The Primal Scream. Most students don't realise that the word "this" is also a linking word. 2. Many thanks to IT specialist Quan for his tremendous contribution! Maybe it's time to stop studying English and start practising it as much as possible! Look at the following question and my sample answer, in which I've highlighted the adjectives. This phrase isn't my own original creation; I've probably heard or read it many times in similar contexts, so it's the instinctive phrase to use.Note: There are 14,300 Google search results for this collocation. An IELTS teacher asked me the following questions: Is it compulsory for candidates to address all of the prompts on the cue card? Primal therapy enjoyed a short heyday. Impossible for stores to compete. The travel industry includes: hotels, motels and other types of accommodation; restaurants and other food services; transportation services and facilities; amusements, attractions and other leisure facilities; gift shops and a large number of other enterprises. For example, I recently used the website Amazon to buy some fairly rare academic textbooks that were not stocked at my local bookshop. What happens if candidates ignore the prompts but speak well about the topic anyway? I can't open your blog. My other IELTS resources are also still available. Have a look around and I'm sure you'll find some advice, language or exam practice that helps you to improve. The simple answer is that "any product imaginable" sounds better to me as a native speaker. The name "elevator pitch" reflects the idea that it should be possible to deliver a short but effective presentation in the time span of an elevator ride from the ground floor to the directors' boardroom on the top floor of a building. This is debatable. I've highlighted a few useful features in the two sentences: adding a statistic between two commas using "at" a comparative: larger than cohesion (referencing) using the pronoun "it" quintupled = increased fivefold overtaking; you may be able to use this word when describing a graph comparing and contrasting using "both... Check how accurate your answers are! strict with yourself: every grammar or spelling mistake is important. An "elevator pitch" is an overview of a product, service, person, group, organisation or project, and is often part of a fund-raising, marketing, brand or public relations program. I don't recommend ignoring the points completely, because there's a danger that you'll go off task if you do that. Primal Therapy Primal therapy is a trauma-based psychotherapy created by Arthur Janov, who argues that neurosis is caused by the repressed pain of childhood trauma. Have you seen the video lesson that I published here a few years ago? Look at the following examples: Nowadays, people can use the Internet to work from home. If you misunderstand the question and give an unrelated answer, I'm afraid you'll get a very low score. Most products are built to last only a short time, and this creates a "throw-away" culture. A global economy means free trade between countries. Would the download even start? When you are given 30 seconds to check your answers, use the time to look at the next section instead. There are deeper levels to be discovered! I gave the above an interesting discussion in the comments below Wednesday's lesson about the phrase "I can buy any product imaginable". Were there any new words or phrases that you can learn? Why do you think this has happened? Although it is less popular these days, many people still advocate this form of therapy. Here are the answers that I have the teacher: I tell my students to use the prompts because they help you to structure your answer. thank you very much Thank you for the feedback. Today I'm making a difficult decision: I'm taking a break from this blog for a while. Is there any extra video in this zip file or all are from youtube channel? If I had to give you my view, I would say that an "imaginable product" could include products that don't currently exist (e.g. a flying car), whereas my phrase "any product imaginable" tends to refer to products that currently exist. For example: "I've been studying for 3 months but my score has only improved by 0.5". Other uses include job interviewing, dating and professional services. In therapy, the patient recalls and reenacts a particularly disturbing past experience, usually from early in life, and expresses normally repressed anger or frustration, especially through spontaneous and unrestrained screams, hysteria or violence. The reason is that candidates could memorise a perfect answer if off-topic answers were allowed. My reply is always this: You should be happy! An improvement of half a band is great, and it shows that you are on the right track. Web-based stores allow customers to search for the best deals, make purchases from the comfort of their homes, and receive delivery of their purchased items the next day. Postives: a world of choice, a solution for busy people or those who can't leave the house. As a customer, the fact that I can find any product imaginable online makes it almost pointless for me to make a trip to my local high street. Thanks for such videos, Durai! Thanks, Durai. Venture capitalists often ask entrepreneurs to give an elevator pitch in order to quickly weed out bad ideas and weak teams. - in- high- increase- up- reached- with (x2)- a- compared- was There are three things that you need to think about when planning an essay: How you will answer the question (your position / opinion) How you will structure your essay to communicate your answer The ideas that you will include in your main paragraphs For example, let's do an essay plan for the question below. 1. Extra task:Can you explain the meaning of the phrase "the tourism industry involves concepts that have remained amorphous to both analysts and decision makers"? What did you find difficult? The word "this" refers to the sentence or idea that came before. You can join it by filling in this form. My answer Online shopping is the main reason. During primal therapy sessions, patients are encouraged to remember traumatic childhood events. Paragraph plan: - High street shops are disappearing because of online stores. - Online shopping is faster, cheaper and more convenient. - People can sit at home, search for deals, receive delivery the next day. - It is impossible for normal stores to compete with the range of choice. - Personal example: recent purchases on Amazon. I am asking because topic of this thread give an impression that these videos collection contain videos on "WRITING" topic only. However, English is a crazy language, and rules are there to be broken! If you read yesterday's lesson (and clicked on this link), you may have seen the following examples of noun + adjective: someone important somewhere nice the best room available the only decision possible the worst choice imaginable the person responsible Remember: The 'rules' that you find in an intermediate (or even 'advanced') grammar book are probably a simplification. I often hear from students who are disappointed because their scores have only improved by half a band. You probably know how to describe a 'double' increase. Thank you for all the support!! *Instead of saying "I cleared", it would be better to say "I passed the IELTS test".
